This is the case whether the information is stored on your computer, or on a network server. Sometimes, however, it is necessary to share certain details with colleagues, clients, partners and contractors. On the other hand, those users should not have access to sensitive files. A simple file share between two users can be just as problematic as not sharing any information at all. This is because if the private file share becomes public, it allows anyone to gain access to those files. This kind of problem can be easily avoided with the use of a Folder Lock. A Folder Lock allows you to specify which users are allowed to share files with which other users. The free Folder Lock can protect your files, while allowing you to specify which users are allowed to share them.
