Cryptkeeper is a simple to use file encrypter that makes it easy to encrypt your files and protect them from being accessed by unauthorized users. How to install Cryptkeeper 1.5 on Windows XP, Vista, Windows 7 and Windows 8 : Note : Read all directions before installing or using cryptkeeper

- 1- Unzip the files
- 2- extract the keys.zip (after extraction of the zipped file you need to start the setup.exe)
- 2- On the "Setup" window (after you unzip the files, you see a window asking you to extract the keys.zip file)
- 3- On the next window (after you unzip the files, you see a window asking you to extract the keys.zip file)
- 4- Uninstall Cryptkeeper
- 5- Run the setup.exe
- 6- select default (because if you change it you can't run Cryptkeeper from the "Control Panel" in your taskbar) Cryptkeeper uses symmetric encryption (encryption key are generated during the installation) so you should backup this keys.zip file if you want to uninstall Cryptkeeper.
- 7- Now you need to make Cryptkeeper the default encrypter
- 8- Open the control panel
- 9- choose "Change the default programs"
- 10- select "Other" tab
- 11- Now you need to select the cryptkeeper.exe and click on "Set as default"
- 12- Restart your computer and run Cryptkeeper

How to install Cryptkeeper 1.5 on Windows 10:

For more information, visit: Shayli Portillo, a top 20 global YouTube star has unveiled her new single. She is a self-proclaimed "person of color" and "Hispanic." Shayli Portillo's new single "Por Vida" drops today, July 18th. While her background is mostly Spanish, the song is truly a conscious pop song, reminiscent of 80s artist Norma Jean and her song "I'm So Excited." Of course she has a little more to say about that. In the song, she talks about self-hatred, which is something that she has struggled with for years. She wrote the song to be a voice for the LGBT community to speak out and feel empowered. She tells StarryStarr: "Some LGBTQ+ loved ones have been very vocal about how they've been hurt by living life in the closet and being closeted themselves." "Por Vida" is very upbeat and fun song, which is indicative of Shayli Portillo. In addition to the song, she also just released a new music video for her new single. Her goal is to bring positive light
