Q: Insert directive in list item HTML.I would like to insert a directive in a list element but I always end up with an error. I was trying to something like {{ 'Hello' }} ,directive('dynamicDirective', function() { return { restrict:'A', scope: true, link: function(scope, element) { element.bind('click', function(event) { var text = 'Hello World'; scope.text = text; }); } } }); and the directive is like this How can I do this? A: You have to provide the contents of your directive as your template. Use the element itself as your template: Use the contents of the directive element: Some Content (This is similar to the way you would use a custom attribute as an expression) Nintendo's decision to cut Wii U hardware sales in half, discontinue the console's aging GamePad and drop the price to $250 for the console has set the company up to be a 3DS holiday success, but that success has been muted by Nintendo's continued insistence that it's planning to keep the Wii U around.
