Last year, when 4K support was added to Steam, I wrote a lot about it. This year there has been a lot of talk about HDR support, what it will give, what it will give us and how we should feel about it. All this will be in one post, but first, let's remember what HDR is. HDR is a technology that allows you to improve the picture quality in games (and in many movies / TV shows) on your computer. It involves adding higher brightness to the footage.
