Allows the user to create custom macros. Create a macro on the Record Keyboard Shortcut, and then assign the macro to a macro. The macro will be executed every time the user presses the assigned key. Use the Macro Editor to assign your created macro to any keyboard short cut you wish to assign. Macro has to be defined using the macro editor. User can assign as many macros to a key as there are in the macro editor. A key can have only one macro assigned. To assign a macro to a key, open the Macro tab in the toolbar and click on the record keyboard shortcut to highlight it. An Edit Macro button will appear on the lower right hand corner of the selected key. Clicking the button will assign the selected macro to the selected key. When the macro starts executing, a small editing window will open on the selected key. You can edit the text that is displayed in the window to create a custom key. This can be done by using the edit button. Capture the whole screen or just bits The applications features three main functions which can come in handy, depending on the situation. You are able to capture your whole desktop, just windows to exclude everything else, or a rectangular area by dragging your mouse around the screen. This can either be done by using the specific buttons found in the main window, or by assigning hotkeys however, the default will prove to be practical enough. After a capture is performed, an image editor will pop on your screen with the freshly obtained image, option which can be toggled on or off. If you quickly want to close the editor, pay attention to the message box because it noes not ask you to save the file, and accidentally pressing "Yes" will leave you to start over. Post-capture editor Once your get your hands on the desired image, you will be able to make final editing to emphasize important things, or blur anything that does not need to be seen. Other effects can be used to further enhance the image, as grayscale and sepia, which can be applied either on a selected are or anywhere but there.
