With recent advances in the fields of computer technology and data communications, there has been increasing interest in an information transfer system in which a plurality of devices are connected to a network to allow sharing of information among the devices. One such system is the IP (Internet Protocol) network system. In the IP network system, each device is provided with an IP address as a unique identifier. A router manages IP addresses assigned to each device so that the devices can communicate with each other. As a result, the IP network system allows sharing of information among the devices connected to the network. In the IP network system, the router is generally installed in a particular building or house. However, some users may desire to have the router installed outside the particular building or house. To allow such users to share information, the router is generally connected to a communication cable (e.g., an Ethernet cable) provided in a cable TV

. Char Ananda, BCIT is home to one of the strongest engineering departments in Canada and is ranked in the top. Player News If there's one thing we know about the Pittsburgh Penguins' team when they have Sidney Crosby on the ice, it's that he is going to score more points than the entire team. For the Penguins to take the next step in their playoff push, they will need more from a number of their remaining regular starters, which is especially important for the likes of Phil Kessel and James Neal. In his Pittsburgh debut, Phil Kessel had a few nice touches. He drew a penalty shot after Logan Couture's goal early in the third period that caromed off of Penguins goalie Matt Murray's chest. He played on the top line with Crosby and Evgeni Malkin, and he also was on the first power-play unit in the middle frame. When Kessel touched the puck with just under 11 minutes left in regulation, he had four shots and six of the Penguins' 13 shots on goal. He had a great chance on a breakaway in the first period but decided to shoot the puck wide. Kessel collected two points in the game, taking two penalties in the process. Phil Kessel played in his 800th career game. Kessel had three assists for the Penguins as they beat the Anaheim Ducks 5-2 on Tuesday. He has 20 goals, 39 assists and 53 points in 52 games this season. Kessel has one goal in his last three games. His goal was his ninth point in the last eight games. After being a healthy scratch, Phil Kessel had a couple of hits in Pittsburgh's loss to the Anaheim Ducks on Tuesday. Kessel had two hits in the game, with one coming when he hit Ducks center Ryan Kesler. Kessel was healthy scratched on Sunday against the New York Rangers. He has played in all 23 of Pittsburgh's games this season, with three goals, 19 assists, and 22 points. Eric Fehr had two goals in the Rangers' win over the Penguins on Saturday. The first came on the power play with 14:08 left in the first period. He took a shot from the right point that caromed off Penguins defenseman Brian Dumoulin and toward the net. Fehr beat Penguins goalie Matt Murray to the puck, which led to a two-on-one for the Rangers. Fehr had a rebound chance after Lars Eller's shot hit Murray's chest. The second goal came on 13:04:44
