Feb 13, 2019 It looks as if the company has just completed a new version, but there are no changes in the file name. The company has not specifically stated if the new version is available or not, so at this moment it is still unknown. January 21, 2020 Vore Guts! Coherent field exchange between a confined Bose gas and an atomic gas in a waveguide. We present the first study of coherent field exchange between a Bose gas and an atomic gas in a waveguide. The interacting system is initially prepared in a quantum state which may be achieved in the laboratory using Feshbach resonances and released into the continuum by suddenly switching off the trap potential. The evolution of the Bose gas-atomic gas entanglement is investigated numerically through measuring the amount of increase in the atomic density, and its evolution is compared with the response of a Bose gas alone in a homogeneous trap, where such an increase in density is not observed.

Q: How to extract parts of a pipe delimited file using the Python CSV module? Is there any way to extract a part of a pipe delimited file using the Python CSV module? For example, let's say I have a text file with the contents: second!first!wlv third!second!lald third!second!blbd first!third!wlh What I want to do is extract the first half of each line and the second half of each line of the file into a new file (with python's CSV module). Something like: filename.txt: second!first!wlv third!second!lald third!second!blbd first!third!
