Hyper Crypt is a lightweight piece of software designed to help you encrypt files, folders and even messages that you want to send via email or IM clients without too much hassle. Comes with a sleek and appealing interface Following a quick and uneventful installation, you are welcomed by a stylish, modern and fresh interface. The UI includes three main tabs, namely the Encryption Options, File Encryption and Other Tools. As you probably hinted, you can type or paste your password in the Encryption Option tab and specify whether you prefer to overwrite the original file or use the HCV file. Locking or unlocking files and directories can be done from the File Encryption tab, whereas the Other Tools comes with various utilities that can help you during the process. Includes password and hash generator functions The application includes several utilities that allow you to generate various types of passwords for encryption. Consequentially, you can create a symmetric key of any desired length, asymmetric and HCV with different sizes. At the same time, the application allows you to generate and compare hashes for various texts and files that you receive via email or download from locations that do not seem secure. It is worth mentioning that the encryption can be done with an AES-256 algorithm, RSA and One-Time Pad. A nifty tool that can help safeguard your data In the eventuality that you store valuable information on your laptop or computer and want to make sure that nobody can access it in case something happens, then perhaps Hyper Crypt can lend you a hand.By Pamela Metras WASHINGTON (Reuters) - U.S. and Iranian negotiators on Sunday wrapped up a fourth round of negotiations at a hotel in Lausanne and reached agreement in principle for the small-scale use of both sides' uranium enrichment facilities and other agreed steps to reduce nuclear-related concerns. The high-level talks, a centerpiece of a landmark nuclear deal between the United States and six world powers and Iran last year, ended after three days of relatively uneventful talks. U.S. Secretary of State John Kerry and Iranian Foreign Minister Mohammad Javad Zarif described it as "unambiguous" as they emerged from the room where the talks took place, but few details were immediately available. "We are very pleased to report we were able to make progress," said U.S. State Department spokeswoman Jen Psaki. "We have moved from zero to the table." "They were very clear from the outset that this was
