*et al*.^[@CR30]^ . According to the double helical structure, the model of the 5'-terminal of dsRNA is shown. The red curve represents the secondary structure of the dsRNA of FIPV strain Beaudette-C. (B) The amino acid sequence of the SH protein of FIPV strain Beaudette-C is aligned with that of the SH protein of FIPV strain 79-1146 and BRV strain Gt-7. The amino acid residues corresponding to the mutated residues of each type of virus are indicated in red. Phylogenetic analysis {#Sec14}
----- The phylogenetic analysis of the SH and PL domains of both FIPV and BRV was performed by MEGA 7.0 software (). The phylogenetic tree was constructed by the neighbour-joining method with 1000 bootstrap replicates. Electronic supplementary material =====

The program lets you choose between French and English. English is the default but you can always switch back and forth. The program has an auto-correct option, and a spell checker. Install files: How to uninstall/delete the program: You must have installed the program using a self-extracting file (SEF), as it is a free download. If you have, the uninstallation is quite simple. Click on the 'Start' button. Click on 'Control Panel' to open it. Click on the 'Uninstall a program' button. The program will be displayed. Click on 'More Info' to open the uninstaller program. Select 'Uninstall'. References Category:1998 software Category:Windows-only softwareQ: Open a new link based on the selection from a dropdown menu using jQuery I have a few drop down menus. What i want to happen when the user selects an option is that a new window opens. It also needs to update the URL of the window to be the same as the one opened. I have the following jQuery but it is not working: `$("#publication-select").change(function () { if ($(this).val() == "publication") { window.open('/publication/newwindow'); } });` The URL I'm trying to open is /publication/newwindow I'm not using PHP. Edit: By the way, the above code is within an ASP.NET MVC 3 Razor View, if that is of any use. A: The jQuery.change() event is only triggered when the dropdown list is changed. So it won't work as you expect. Instead, use the.click() event: `$("#publication-select").click(function () { if ($(this).val() == "publication") { window.open('/publication/newwindow'); } });` A: The click event triggers at the time the option is selected, where as the change event triggers at the time the user leaves the field. From the click event you can then select the href to be: window.open Saucy French Editor will help you overcome the headache of typing a letter or other document in French when you don't have a French keyboard. While in 'Word' you have to constantly go to 'Insert Symbol' and select the correct accented characters, with 'Saucy French Editor', all the French characters are in a simple table across the top of the program screen. A single click and the character is entered on the page. You can also select two typical French endings for your letters. Ending F is the formal one, and Ending P is the one for personal letters. When you've finished you can edit your letter further in Word or in Notepad, by simply selecting one of the options in the Menu. A breeze for anyone who needs to type anything in French occasionally, or regularly. Melissa Stewart The Georgia Bureau of Investigation said the shooting happened at a home on Shaw Drive in the Brookwood Village community at 10:30 p.m. Friday. A 19-year-old male suspect was found dead at the scene. "I believe this individual may have made threats to harm himself earlier in the day, and during the course of the investigation, it became clear that this was more than just a suicide," GBI Acting Director Mark McDonough said. "When the individual was found deceased in the home, there was a firearm in the bedroom, and our investigation led us to believe that the individual killed himself." Police are not releasing the name of the victim. The GBI said no other suspects are being sought. GBI officials said this was not a random act and that a motive is not known. Anyone with information is asked to call the GBI at 404-586-5300. 10,000 years from now, the earth has shrunk and humans have evolved. In search of a better place to live, people travel to the planet Than, where the women are tall and green, and the men are short and ginger. But when they arrive, the women and men who have been left behind are not as happy to see them as they expected, and Than discovers that its people have been hiding the secret of teleportation, something they have only just discovered in their system. In the future, humans have evolved into four different species. A new species has evolved on Than and Earth, a flying species. #1 New York Times bestselling author Gail Carriger presents a brand-new novel, a story of unlikely friendships, happy endings, and one woman's journey to the farthest reaches of the globe.
