If your PC is infected with a virus, it will often result in lots of annoying symptoms. Several programs will slow down performance and other utilities will stop working when you go online. The blue screen of death is usually the last step before your PC crashes, usually resulting in high loss of data. Before you panic, there are ways you can remedy the situation. Below are some of the tools that can help to clean out and repair your computer. A Virus Remover These days, installing anti-virus software is a must-have, especially if you are a computer user. This software can not only detect and remove different types of malware, but it can also conduct an automatic repair on various critical problems that may have occurred on your PC in the past. This software will scan your computer for viruses, spyware, keyloggers, adware, spyware, dialers, Trojans and worms. Most anti-virus programs are available in both free and paid versions. Choosing one can be a problem, so it is important to ask yourself a few questions. Does the application have paid-for version? Does the free version have a 'lite' option available? Does the free version offer a full system scan? What are the security features of the paid version? Is a monthly fee reasonable for a PC with a free version? Does the anti-virus application detect updates automatically and set itself to make sure it's always up to date? NOTE: Once infected, the more often a file is opened, the more likely it is to get back online. Featured Tools: Carbonite Cyber-Kills MalwareBytes AVG A small program can sometimes go a long way. Malicious programs are programmed to spread to as many PCs as possible, using a number of tactics to accomplish this goal. These can range from technical and user errors to social engineering and business espionage. Protecting yourself A computer can be a useful tool, but it can also be a destructive device. With all the potential for trouble on the web and in the real world, you need the best protection possible to keep yourself safe. To protect against hackers, viruses and other malicious programs, make sure your computer has an

Simple Password Generator

Comes with a small application that can produce random, complicated passwords for ease of use. Users can create and store passwords with six, ten, or twenty characters. One important thing to know about this software is that it only keeps the records of the keystrokes that are made and doesn't keep a copy of the text itself. It's best to make sure it's used on an encrypted drive or in a secure location. Creates and stores passwords in an easy way

Uses Random: Whether you like the program or not, Simple Password Generator is easy to use. It can produce an unlimited number of codes and produce a key-based password. The app is lightweight, even though the program uses many resources, unlike computer games that can use lots of RAM and processor cycles. With BitLocker Drive Encryption 3.0, you can enable full-disk encryption to secure your data, helping to reduce the risk of data loss in case of theft and exposing PCs to ransomware. You'll experience enhanced security, a new, seamless user experience, and other enhanced functionality when you use BitLocker with Windows 10 Enterprise, Business, or Education. BitLocker Drive Encryption 3.0 adds many new features and functionalities, including:

- BitLocker Drive Encryption is now integrated with Windows: the new capabilities are provided by the integrated Windows Driver Stack that protects the Windows OS on your computer. (If you're using a Windows 7 or Windows 8 computer, BitLocker Drive Encryption may still be available in your Settings > Security). The integrated Windows Driver Stack also protects your applications running on Windows. In addition, BitLocker Drive Encryption now works with Windows IoT Core.
- New user experience: BitLocker Drive Encryption now supports a new, integrated user experience. You can protect your data in just a few clicks or enable BitLocker Drive Encryption using the Setup Wizard.
- Enhanced capabilities:
  - o Get started with BitLocker Drive Encryption in less than 10 minutes: you can configure BitLocker Drive Encryption in less than 10 minutes to help protect your data and prepare for continuous data protection.
  - o Receive a USB flash drive with BitLocker Drive
