As such, mobile devices have grown in popularity, providing consumers with quick access to information, and the ability to communicate with order individuals and businesses in a truly personal way. As people continue to use their mobile devices for everyday tasks, a growing number of apps have been developed which rely on location. Mobile apps can identify a user's geographic location and, in many cases, provide relevant information for the user. For example, a user can use a navigation app to receive directions while driving to a location, a restaurant delivery app to receive a restaurant's current location, and a news app to receive news about places nearby. However, given that the location of a mobile device can change over time, new locations can be identified in the user's vicinity and content published for the user at these locations may be unknown or unavailable. Accordingly, there is a need to identify new places where content can be made available.Q: Remove row based on max and display I have a data frame which looks like the following. #Sample data df = pd.DataFrame({'date':['2011-04-29','2011-04-30','2011-05-01','2011-0
