It can also be used to associate custom actions with photos so that they can be selected by name when tagging someone in social networks. IMPORTANT: It is important to note that this product is intended for imaging (photo and video) applications only, and can only be used with the metadata editor and the editor of the media. For example, this component will not work with image thumbnails in the JCR content repository or with file type icons. To help you achieve your workflow, you can import a database of photos or video files, assign actions to them and have the capabilities to have customized thumbnail galleries. You can add different actions to each photo including ordering, rating, or changing tags and generating thumbnails. You can also have custom actions like assign as favorites, open in a new tab, attach to an email, upload to your website, email or IM (Instant Messaging), etc. Each action can be assigned to a photo using the Action History in the properties window. If you want to run a specific action on each of the photos in the collection, you can set the actions to run on all the collections (To All) or individually. Field tags have been defined to assist in organizing, categorizing, and presenting images or videos. You can assign an image or video to a category to expose it to another application or webpages.
