Hypermotion Technology is an engine-level feature that replicates an exceptional level of realism, immersion and connection with the game world while also bringing an unprecedented level of action and interaction into the game. Players will be able to feel their movement and reactions in the game as they run, jump, cut, fake and receive the ball, and can react instantly to these actions from the artificial intelligence (AI) of their opponents.

The next-generation engine also introduces EA SPORTS Pre-Match Visuals, which brings a wider visual field to the experience of watching a football match. Match Day and Goal Line Officiating visual cues are also a part of EA SPORTS Pre-Match Visuals. "The year of FIFA is coming to a close with FIFA Interactive World Cup 2021 coming to PlayStation 4," said David Rutter, Studio Head of EA SPORTS FIFA. "The new features and enhancements made to the engine help bring players closer to the action on the pitch by bringing the game into a new era of speed and emotion." EA SPORTS FIFA 22 is available for Xbox One and Origin and is slated to be available in the U.S. on November 15 and in Europe on November 18. For more information on FIFA 22, please visit:
