It's not possible to check the old data in the table and see what problem the program has had, because it doesn't do anything. How do I get the error messages from Hibernate? A: If you get these error messages while running the program as an administrator, try setting the following properties for your program in the properties dialog of Visual Studio (Tools -> Options): Debug -> Turn on "Windows is debugged when it breaks" Debug -> Turn on "Remote debug is supported" Then start the program again and you will see the error messages in the Output window. Q: How to get the value of dynamically created input type? I have created a dynamically created input of type text. I need to get that created input value when onclick event is triggered. How can I get it? Here is the code
